Description
The use of pesticides by veterinarians and veterinary technicians

Assumptions Used in Arriving at Fiscal Estimate

Background

Wisconsin statutes and administrative code requires veterinary clinics that use, repackage for use, or prescribe pesticides, to obtain a Veterinary Clinic Permit. (Wis. State Stats. § 94.702, and Wis. Adm. Code § 29.23)

Examples of when a veterinary clinic would need a Veterinary Clinic Pesticide Use and Repackaging Permit:

1. Pesticide applications made to animals by clinic personnel who are not a licensed Veterinarian or Certified Veterinary Technician (CVT).
2. Veterinary clinics that repackage and distribute pesticide containing products.

Other regulations that govern the use, repackaging, and distribution of pesticide products include:

a. Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act (FIFRA)

1. Section 2
2. Section 3
3. Section 6
4. Section 7

b. Title 40 United States Code (USC)

1. Chapter 1, Subchapter E, Parts 150 – 179

c. Wisconsin State Statutes:

1. Chapter 94, Plant Industry, §§ 94.67 – 94.715

d. Wisconsin Administrative Code

1. Chapter ATCP 29, Pesticide Use and Control

The bill would exempt all veterinarians from the repackaging, and individual pesticide applicator certification requirements set forth by FIFRA and the USC, provided they are not functioning outside of normal veterinary practices with regard to pesticide use.

Pesticide Certification and Licensing Program Information

The Veterinary Clinic Pesticide Use and Repackaging permit timeframe starts on January 1 of even-numbered years, and expires on December 31 of odd-numbered years. Currently there are 385 permitted Veterinary Clinics. The fee for a Veterinary Clinic Pesticide Use and Repackaging permit is $25.00. Veterinary clinics with multiple locations, operated by the permit holder, are covered under a single permit.

In 2008, the Department issued 385 Veterinary Clinic Pesticide Use and Repackaging permits. The fees received from administering this program were approximately $9600.00.
